Back when this poem started itself, my granddad, who appears frequently throughout Primers Volume Two, had been working for nearly twenty years as a groundsman at Dudmaston Hall, an integrated agricultural estate just outside of Bridgnorth, Shropshire. Managed by the National Trust, it's been kept together since medieval times and its woodland still preserves the ancient Forest of Morfe. As a boy, I remember exploring those woods while he was coppicing or marking trees; on the opposite ...

A primer is a short single-stranded nucleic acid utilized by all living organisms in the initiation of DNA synthesis. The enzymes responsible for DNA replication, DNA polymerases, are only capable of adding nucleotides to the 3'-end of an existing nucleic acid, requiring a primer be bound to the template before DNA polymerase can begin a complementary strand. Living organisms use solely RNA ...
